TELLS STORY OF CHRIST. Biblical Scenes in Wood Carving by a Salt Lake Catholic.

There is on exhibition in the window f an East First South street store a of an East First South street store a wood carving by John O'Donnell, just completed after thirty-one years of labor. The work is a representation of the life and death of the Christ from the time of his birth to the ascension. Mr. O'Donnell is a devout Catholic and an usher in St. Mary's cathedral.

The carving was done at odd times, Mr. O'Donnell using a common jack-limite for the work. He cut his fingers many times and often broke figures that were almost completed. But he perservered and today sees the culmination of his years of careful toil.

The carving which is called "The Crib of Bethiehem," was commenced when Mr. O'Donnell lived in Brooklyn, three store years ago. It contains over 150 figures three to nine inches high, each one carved by hand out of a solid block of wood. The force of the carving which are now being solid in large quantities at 19 cents each.

Frank Daley, city councilman and foreman of the Silver King mine, is configed to his bed with typinoid fever. each one carved by hand out of a solid block of wood. The frame of the curv-ing represents a church measuring three feet high, two feet wide and four feet long. The first group of figures is in a small church on the inside and in a small church on the inside and portrays the manger surrounded by the mother, foster father and three wise men. The flight into Egypt, last sup-per, Calvary, and descent of the Holy Ghost are all shown.

Ghost are all shown.

This collection representing years of patient toil, to the mind of the producer, has more genuine value than the wealth found in the hills around us. But moved by the spirit to contribute to God's glory on earth and His kingdom in heaven. Mr. O'Donnell has given up his ownership of the little temple, in order that it may be disposed of for a money consideration to aid in the erection of the new cathedral.
